

Attorney Rita Rodríguez-Falciani is a graduate from the Law School at the University of Puerto Rico, with a Master's and Bachelor's degree in Occupational Therapy. Her professional career started as aid for the Federal Monitor on a class action lawsuit at the Puerto Rico Psychiatric Hospital, later becoming an Auxiliary Federal Monitor. Afterwards, she was certified as a Risk Administrator and was instrumental in the development and implementation of the Mental Health Law for Puerto Rico in [REDACTED]. Rita has been working for over 20 years with health insurance providers and currently leads the Compliance Department of Molina Healthcare of Puerto Rico. She also frequently participates in various community and health-related committees and associations.